

Become a Corporate Sponsor And stand for a world without hunger.

Ending hunger requires a collective and collaborative approach among governments, non-profits, civil society, individuals, and the private sector. The private sector plays a critical role, bringing its technical expertise, scale, and resources. The Hunger Project partners with corporations and organizations who are committed to transforming the systems of inequity that create hunger and cause it to persist.

On October 19, 2024 we will come together in New York City for an evening of connection, reflection and inspiration. Meet and hear from our courageous community partners who have ended their own hunger and poverty.

There are 783 million people living in chronic hunger, 99% of whom live in low- and medium-income communities. The Hunger Project partners with such communities to shift their mindsets from resignation to creating a vision for themselves for a new future. A future free from hunger and full of agency and self-reliance. Millions of people are working to end their own hunger and poverty.

Partner with us and elevate the voices of the world's most vulnerable communities.

We invite you to see what's possible.

Embark on a journey with The Hunger Project and discover what's possible. Learn about our transformative work and holistic strategies from our partners in our program countries.

Engage with global citizens and connect to the world in an intimate and memorable evening.

Elevate the voices of the world's most marginalized communities and stand shoulder to shoulder with them as they work to end their own hunger and poverty.

Let's partner.

Our Impact: Over 12.4 million people were reached by our programs across 9,540 communities globally in 2023.

In Africa, more than 1.2 million people in 1,275 communities are leading their own development programs in food and nutrition security, health, education and more – leading lives of self-reliance and agency.

In India, we support more than 8,000 elected women who represent 5,134 communities across six states reaching over 5.5 million people, and we mobilize 2,700 adolescent girls to strengthen their voice and their leadership skills for gender equality.

In Bangladesh, our community mobilization program strengthened the leadership skills of more than 150,000 community volunteers, making us the largest volunteer organization in the country.

In Latin America, our programs are built in partnership with indigenous communities to facilitate positive relationships with local governments to achieve equal and fair access to resources. Through this strategic collaboration, local women, men and children lead the creation of their own development plan and realize their own vision for the future.
