

A World Without Hunger.

Imagine a world without hunger.

Free from the burden of gathering water and wood
A girl walks to school, knowing she matters.

A father — secure in his own worth — stands up for his young daughter knowing marriage and motherhood are her choice to make With a mind and body fed and healthy.

Beyond the lean times of drought and dust
A family shares a meal grown from an earth restored

Well past the yesterdays of hand to mouth
A village lifts its sights and sees a future plants orchards shares and stores the joy of plenty

A community fills their food bank to the ceiling with homegrown sacs of surplus And rests easy that no one will go without.

A nation recalls the best of itself, envisions its highest road ahead, invests in the genius and resilience of its people

Across continents,
peace is the currency,
economies interconnect,
opportunities abound.

Free from the limits of us versus them
Full of the sense that there is enough People the world over see themselves in each other

We see ourselves in each other.
In our eyes, our smiles, our breath.
And we breathe as one — with gratitude — at what we have created together.

A world where every person has the chance to live a life of health and dignity in harmony with nature
