

Responding to COVID-19

Community members are leveraging their local networks to set up sanitation areas, produce face masks and spread critical health information.

Benin

In partnership with Her Choice, THP-Benin is installing hand-washing stations in schools and communities across the country to help prevent the spread of COVID-19.

At each station, staff, volunteers and local leaders are facilitating conversations filled with key sanitation information.

Though COVID-19 precautions have changed the landscape of our programs, we are actively collaborating with communities to continue the work of ending hunger and poverty.

www.thp.org

The Hunger
Project.

Responding to COVID-19

Community members are leveraging their local networks to set up sanitation areas, produce face masks and spread critical health information.

Bangladesh

THP-Bangladesh's Country Director Badiul Alam Majumdar is spearheading advocacy for government action against the spread of COVID-19. THP-Bangladesh staff has also curated a virtual informational campaign, accessible to all.

Though COVID-19 precautions have changed the landscape of our programs, we are actively collaborating with communities to continue the work of ending hunger and poverty.

www.thp.org

The Hunger
Project.

Responding to COVID-19

Community members are leveraging their local networks to set up sanitation areas, produce face masks and spread critical health information.

Mexico

In Mexico, staff and local leaders are facilitating cooperative relationships among community members who were forced to suspend work due to COVID-19. Notably, coalitions have formed to divide and deliver key resources equally among community members.

Though COVID-19 precautions have changed the landscape of our programs, we are actively collaborating with communities to continue the work of ending hunger and poverty.

www.thp.org

The
Hunger
Project.

Responding to COVID-19

Community members are leveraging their local networks to set up sanitation areas, produce face masks and spread critical health information.

India

In a campaign to “reach the last person in the community,” THP-India staff and trained elected women representatives have used text messages and phone calls to share information that can slow the spread of COVID-19.

Though COVID-19 precautions have changed the landscape of our programs, we are actively collaborating with communities to continue the work of ending hunger and poverty.

www.thp.org

The Hunger
Project.